

Tuskegee Airmen Contest

The Tuskegee Airmen were the first African-American's to fly in the military. And to this day they will always be remembered for what they did for this country. In this paper I will talk about the Tuskegee Airmen and their six guiding principles that lead to their victory.

The Tuskegee Airmen were African-Americans pilots that President Roosevelt ordered AirCorp to train. They were first trained by black instructors. They were also called by names to ready them for white instructors who didn't want anything to do with them. Plessy vs Ferguson was a case that stated "It is legal for blacks and whites to be separate as long as facilities were equal." Their job was to escort B-17 and B-25 bombers to missions so they wouldn't get shot down. (1)

In conclusion, I learned that in the year 1941 the Tuskegee Airmen were the best pilots ever. Even though they weren't really accepted by a lot of people, they fought hard in the war and succeeded. I am very appreciative of them and god rest the souls of all who lost their lives fighting for the country.
