Goals I Want to Achieve

I chose Never Quit, Be Ready to Go, as well as Aim High. I chose these words because "Be Ready to Go " to me means that every family should be ready to go do anything, just in case of an emergency or just anything. Being ready to go is also something you might need if you're in trouble or something like that. Be ready to go is also important for many things; such as being prepared for school, having pre-made plans for an emergency, or knowing the expectations of your parents.

"Never Quit" is also important to me because you can never quit on your family. No matter what, or any time. For instance, even if I do something that disappoints my parents, I know they will never quit loving me. In the same way, I will never give up on them or other family members even in troubled times.

Never quit to me is also never quitting on your dreams or goals whether they are small and large. Never quit on something you're good at or school, because that could help you a lot in life. Also, if you never quit on the things you aren't as good at, you will learn the value of hard work and a new skill. Having the mindset of never quitting helps you concentrate on your goals.

Aim High is also a good thing to know because you will have confidence in things you do and that would be a great thing. Aim High for me would be to aim high on goals, and achievement. For instance, I'm going to be a mechanic when I get older, and that is a good goal for me since I'm already learning this. I will have to aim high, because this is not a career that many females do. I'm sure I will have to prove myself often.

These are the principles I'm going to focus on in my life. Writing this essay helped me to realize that I must have a plan to reach my goals. I will never quit on myself. I will be ready to aim high and expect success.
