

What does never giving up mean to me? To me never giving up is all about trying your best. If you try your best and never give up you will achieve all of your goals in life. I think I do a good job of never giving up, because I have plenty of family members that never give up. My papa is the best example of never giving up. I have never seen him give up, no matter how hard the task is.

I will never give up. For example, I will always try my best no matter what gets in the way. You should always do your best. The reason why I will never give up is because I have goals in my life. One goal is to play football professionally, and if I want to achieve my goals, I can't ever give up. In football you will have times when you want to give up. For example, it can be frustrating when you miss a pass, fumble the ball, or when my team is losing.

Aim high. Here's an example of aiming high, just aim high and shoot. Just kidding, but if you really think about it, aiming high is just reaching for your goals. How do I aim high? Easy, I try my best in everything I do. For example, in football I practice everyday, therefore I can reach my goal of becoming a professional football player. Big dreams mean I need to never give up and always aim high.
