Never quit that's what I always say. You should never give up. You should at least stick it through until you reach your goals. Like when I was in baseball I wanted to quit but I stuck it through and I even got a better position as catcher so you should always stick it through.

You should always use your brain. Because if you don't use your brain, it would be bad. Because your brain helps you function. Using my brain helps me work at school.

Believe in yourself. Say you are on the last part of a video game and you try beating it and you say I can do it. And you get to the last part. Believing in myself can help me later in life.
