BASKETBALL

Have you ever looked toward a goal or a dream? Mine focuses around basketball. I like to play basketball. I aim high when I play. I try my hardest every day. When I play basketball I don't focus on anything else but basketball. I listen to my coach, and I learn the plays so that I can be my best..

I choose to aim high because I try to practice more so I can play better. I push myself to my limits every day so I will succeed. When I push myself it helps me get better. I don't give up, and I practice every day to make sure I can look toward my dream of playing in the NBA. I even practiced outside when we didn't have school because of ice and snow. It was 15 degrees outside. That is how serious I am about my goals.

The reason I choose the sport basketball is because it is something I enjoy doing. Also, it helps me focus on myself. If I could push myself to the best of my abilities, I can become a better basketball player. Each practice, it will help make me better every day.

That's why I chose to aim high. Because it helps me think of reaching my goals. If I reach my goals it makes me successful, and I will get lots of money and be rich and famous. I would love to play basketball for the Golden state warriors. I could help take care of my mom, too.

To reach my goal I have to practice all summer and play on more teams. Practice with other people. If I work on the stuff I'm bad at, and if I do that it will help me improve on my skill and help me get better. Maybe when I reach my goals. I will hear my name in the Chase Center Basketball Arena: Koltyn, Koltyn, Koltyn!
