

The Virtues of Life

I never thought of the things that will help me be successful in life until now. The principles I think will benefit me are, “believe in yourself”, “never quit”, and “aim high”. These principles are useful in many areas of my life now in 6th grade and far into my future..

The way you can believe in yourself is when you are in a scary situation always believe that you will succeed. It might not happen the first time, but it will give you more confidence the next time you attempt it. For example, one time when I wanted to ask my dad for a phone, I needed to believe in myself to ask. If I wasn't confident, he may not think I am mature enough.

A way I show the phrase “never quit” is when I'm doing something and I want to quit but I don't. Never quitting is an amazing thing to do when you are doing something important especially.. When I asked my dad for the phone, he said no, but I didn't give up. Eventually, he said I could get one when I am thirteen. I believe he compromised with me because I showed confidence and didn't give up after not succeeding the first time.

Never go for a small thing and stop there; you've got to “aim high”. When I get out on my own, I won't stop with an apartment, I want to work hard for a bigger house for me and my family. Instead of just taking any job, I want to work to get one that helps me provide for my future family and that I am successful doing. This will require more than hope but training and working as hard as I can every day.

I think everybody should have some principles in life to help them be motivated in life. With principles, people can do a lot of things like accomplish goals, have a happy family, and a successful life. The principles of aiming high, believing in myself, and never quitting are necessities of my life now and in the future.
